

Minty's return to Maida Vale isn't just about the chaos of raising twins, Old English sheepdog shenanigans, school runs, and caring for her parents. Her life is shadowed by whispers of her involvement in a family art forgery ring that once duped the London elite.

The watchful eyes of the law are convinced Minty's back to unearth a treasure trove of truths about a legendary missing painting. Minty must prove her new life is a genuine fresh start.

But does she know more than she's revealing, or is her return an honest attempt to repaint her life's canvas? Amidst it all, a mysterious stranger strolls into her already turbulent world, bringing a hint of intrigue and the possibility of romance. Is he a brushstroke of fate or a shadow from her past? With gangsters on her heels and love at her door, Minty's journey is a laugh-out-loud adventure, where art and reality comically collide in Maida Vale
